Unpacking your Acer Leap Ware

Your new Acer Leap Ware comes packed in a protective box. Carefully unpack the contents of the box. If any of the following items are missing or damaged, contact your dealer immediately:

- Your new Acer Leap Ware device

- Quick Guide

Charging the battery

For first use, you need to charge your Leap Ware for approximately 150 minutes. After the first full charge, you can charge it as necessary.

1. Attach the USB cable to the Leap Ware, lining up the charging connectors. Ensure the cable is orientated correctly and clicks into place; the cable is held in place with a pair of magnets.

2. Connect the cable to a USB port on your computer or a certified USB charger (typically 5 V, 1 to 2 A - not included).

Note

The Leap Ware will turn on automatically after charging for 15 seconds. For first use, the Leap Ware must charge before it will turn on.

Note

Use only a charger that complies with national safety standards. Using other chargers may damage the device and risks injury and property damage.
3. The first time you charge your Leap Ware, wait for about 150 minutes to ensure a full charge.

YOUR ACER LIQUID LIFE APP

Your Profile

The Profile screen shows your character image (avatar), current status and tracks your progress towards goals.

Endurance / Stamina

The Liquid Life app provides an estimation of your Endurance and Stamina.

Tap the Level icon on the profile screen. The Endurance screen shows your current level with a badge and level title.

To provide a base level, you must first determine your resting heart rate. Check the instructions and tap Start.

After your resting heart rate has been recorded, whenever you use the running tracker and run for more than 20 minutes the app will assess your performance (based on your heart rate) and determine your Stamina level. See Running and cycling trackers on page 25.

Note

While running, keep your phone with you, with an active data connection, so the Leap Ware can continuously transmit information to the app and provide assessments.

Note

For an accurate assessment, periodically update your resting heart rate information: from the Profile screen, tap Heart Rate, then tap the arrow in the Resting HR section. Follow the instructions.

Note

The Leap Ware includes two years free access to the Endurance/Stamina program.
Tracking your activity

Your Leap Ware can track your activity and with the Liquid Life app you can follow trends in your lifestyle.

Wearing your Leap Ware

To obtain consistent results, your Leap Ware must be able to take good readings from a consistent position on your wrist. See Care and wearing tips on page 7.

- For a small set of users, the Leap Ware will be unable to take measurements. See Heart rate measurement on page 24.

Track your physical activity

The default main screen shows the time and date. Swipe left or right to see activity tracking options.

- Step tracker (steps / calories / distance).
- Heart rate measurement
- Running and cycling trackers

Step tracker (steps / calories / distance)

The three values indicate how many steps you have taken during the day, how many calories this represents and the estimated distance covered by these steps.

Note

Tap the screen to change which of the readings are shown in the center of the screen.
If you reach the goal set in the Liquid Life app, the Leap Ware will display a notification. The reading resets at midnight and are stored by the Liquid Life app so you may track trends in your activity.

Heart rate measurement

The Leap Ware will automatically estimate your heart rate when you switch to the heart rate screen. After it has finished, tap Start to estimate again.

The Leap Ware also estimates your heart rate every 60 minutes (tap Heart rate in the Liquid Life app); when you perform stamina tests; and when using the running or cycling tracker.

What is your heart rate?

Your heart rate, or pulse counts the number of times your heart beats per minute. Normal heart rate varies from person to person and varies according to your current activity and fitness.

Heart rate measurement

The Leap Ware flashes an LED many times per second and measures reflected light to detect the flow of blood at any given moment. Each heart beat changes the flow of blood and these changes are used to calculate your heart rate.

Make sure you are wearing the Leap Ware correctly to get the best measurements. See Wearing your Leap Ware on page 23.

- For best results relax your wrist and stay still for 10-15 seconds.
- High-intensity training will increase your heart rate and may cause erratic readings. Please rest before taking measurements.

Results may vary for many reasons, including:

- Sharp, erratic movements, such as high-intensity training.
- Skin thickness and condition, and overall wrist thickness.
- Cold weather.
- A tattoo or other skin covering can block light from the sensor.
Running and cycling trackers

The Leap Ware shows the real-time stamina while exercising (see Stamina on page 27), and tells you when you reach the fat-burn zone based on your heart rate. This gives you more understanding of your pace.

When you are ready to exercise, swipe to either the running or cycling screen, and tap. You will see a countdown before the main tracker starts.

!Countdown

Note

Keep your phone with you so the Leap Ware can continuously transmit information to the app.

If you accidentally start the countdown, tap the screen to exit.

You will see a screen showing the distance covered, duration and your heart rate.

!Tracker Screen

Note

Tap the screen to change which of the readings are shown in the center of the screen.
Real-time stamina

You Leap Ware lets you know how your workout is going. Stamina, heart rate, workout duration/distance, and calories burned can be displayed in real-time for more effective work out sessions.

!Fat Burning

Note

If you do not have your phone, or it is not connected to the Leap Ware, the outer circle will be grey and the real-time stamina countdown will not be available.

Exercise mode determines your Fat Burn zone from your profile information and current heart rate. See Estimating Stamina on page 28.

Resting and stopping

To rest, tap the pause icon at the top of the screen, then the play icon to start again.

To exit the tracker, tap pause, then stop. To help make a more accurate estimate of your performance, you will be asked about your breathing and energy (if you are tired) after your run; tap a face to answer each question.

Note

If you do not have your phone, or it is not connected to the Leap Ware, you will not see these questions.
Track activity in the Liquid Life app

Check your progress and past performance in the app. Tap Activity from the Profile screen.

Your daily activity shows three tracks: steps, running and cycling. Your avatar shows the distance you have covered for each activity, swipe right to see a day-by-day history. Tap an character on the track to see more information; if you used the exercise tracker for running or cycling, tap Details, for more information, such as a map of your route.

Tap Weekly or Monthly at the top of the screen to see a graph of your activity over a longer period - swipe left or right on the graph to change the time period displayed.

Calories burned

The Liquid Life app estimates how many calories you have burned and how much food that represents. Tap on the food icon to change the food type; choose from Soft Serve ice-cream, bottles of Cola, servings of Popcorn, or Hamburgers.

Stamina

What is stamina?

Stamina in this context represents the amount of energy required to sustain a high intensity workout. Stamina will recover if you take a break for a while or have an additional energy supply.

Stamina theory

When exercising, two types of energy systems are used: aerobic and anaerobic. Stamina represents a combination of aerobic and anaerobic energy systems. In a low-intensity workout, aerobic systems provide energy. In contrast, in a high-intensity workout, energy is supplemented by the faster anaerobic system.
Understanding how your body uses these two systems allows you to perform better in endurance exercises.

Estimating Stamina

The Stamina rating is based on information in your profile, such as gender, age, height and weight, with additional reference to daily step and heart rate measurements. While you are exercising, the green border around the Leap Ware screen indicates your current Stamina - a full green arc means your Stamina is at 100% and as your Stamina is used, the arc will gradually disappear.

UV meter

What is the UV meter?

The UV meter detects the intensity of ambient ultraviolet (UV) light. Prolonged exposure can damage your skin.

Estimating UV

The UV meter uses photodiodes to estimate ambient UV light. This adjusts automatically to differentiate between indoor or outdoor lighting.

Note

Do not block the meter (above the touchscreen) while it is active. The meter must be in direct sunlight and point towards the sun.

Detected UV levels are rated from Low to Extreme, rated from one to five sun icons. As the rating increases, take more precautions to protect yourself from the sun’s rays, such as using sunscreen or staying in shade, especially in the middle of the day.
Stress and fatigue

What is Stress?

Stress is a reaction to physical, mental or emotional stimulus. It is not always a bad influence, but it can interfere with your health or physical state (for example: heart rate).

Fatigue may be associated with long-term stress, defined as physical or mental exhaustion. Fatigue dulls your senses, thought processes and reflexes.

The Leap Ware will display an alert if stress is detected.

You may also check your current stress level on the profile screen in the Liquid Life app. Tap the Stress label to see recorded stress levels since you started wearing the Leap Ware.
TROUBLESHOOTING

I can’t connect my Leap Ware to my phone

Make sure both devices are on, Bluetooth is on and the devices are near each other.

If your Leap Ware does not connect with the Liquid Life app, please stop and restart Bluetooth on your phone, or restart your phone. Please also check the Compatibility list on page 35.

A disconnected icon is shown in the Liquid Leap app or notification tile if the Leap Ware is not connected.

If your Leap Ware is not connected to the Liquid Life app, stop and restart Bluetooth on your phone, restart your phone and/or restart the Leap Wear.

Alternatively, restart the app (in your phone’s Settings > Apps > Acer Liquid Life > Force stop, then open the app).

If your Leap Ware is still disconnected, unpair the Leap Ware using Acer Liquid Life (in Settings > Device) and pair the devices again. See Pairing on page 9.

⚠️ Warning

If you unpair and pair your devices, you will lose data stored on the Leap Ware.

If you unpair while your Leap Ware device is not present, you should reset the Leap Ware before pairing the devices again (on the Leap Ware, open Settings > Factory Reset > Yes).

See Pairing on page 9.

I can’t control music playback

Try launching your device’s music player and start playing a song. Now you should be able to control the music playback from the Leap Ware.

The Leap Ware will control apps that are compatible with Basic Music Control standards.
I can’t control my camera

The Snapshot function might not work on some Android phones. Please check your camera app; Snapshot will only work if pressing the volume up or volume down button takes a photo. If the volume buttons do not work, check the camera app settings to see if you can change the volume button function.

If you can take photos with your phone's camera using the volume key, but the Snapshot function does not work, please follow these steps to activate Snapshot:

1. Pair the Leap Ware with Liquid life.
2. Open Settings on your phone.
3. Open Bluetooth settings.
4. In the Available device list, find the Leap Ware name in the list ("Leap Wear-xxxx" where xxxx = number).
5. For Android devices: Tap the settings button next to the Leap Ware name. Uncheck the Input device option and then check it again. Tap OK then the Leap Ware name and make sure it is Paired.
6. The Snapshot function should now work.

My Leap Ware has turned off

Your Leap Ware will automatically turn off if the battery level drops to about 1%, try charging it for at least 15 minutes before using it again.

Your Leap Ware will also turn off if the battery overheats. If your Leap Ware is unusually warm, allow it to cool before charging it. If the Leap Ware repeatedly overheats, please contact an authorized Acer service center.

How do I wake my Leap Ware up?

If you are having trouble waking your Leap Ware up, try charging it.

If it has been fully charged or still has power, tap the screen or press the Home key.

My Leap Ware won't turn on

Try charging your Leap Ware. It should turn on after a few minutes of charging.

If this doesn’t help, please contact an authorized Acer service center.
My Leap Ware won't pair

Please make sure your smartphone's Bluetooth is enabled from your smartphone's Bluetooth settings. If you have just enabled Bluetooth, remove Acer Liquid Life from recent apps and launch it again.

If Acer Liquid Life says it cannot find your Leap Ware, please go to your smartphone's Bluetooth settings and look at the connected devices. You should see a device name starting with LeapWare. If it says connected, tap and hold the device name (or in iOS tap the (i) icon) and select Forget this device or delete. Return to Acer Liquid Life and connect again.

How do I remove the Leap Ware from my account?

Open Acer Liquid Life, open Settings and tap Device. You will see an Unpair button; tap to unpair your Leap Ware.

To pair a new device, see Pairing the Leap Ware with your phone on page 8.

How do I update my Leap Ware?

From time to time, there may be updates available for your Leap Ware. When you pair your Leap Ware with a phone, it will check for and apply updates.

If an update is available, you will receive an update notification and your Leap Ware will automatically update when it syncs with the app. Ensure your smartphone and Leap Ware are sufficiently charged.
